LIMITED TO 30 RESERVATIONS

Looking to improve your profitability by successfully managing inventory turns or want to get a jump start on 2019 inventory planning? Facilitated by Jon Schreibfeder, who was awarded the title “Subject Matter Expert” in inventory management, this one-day effective inventory management workshop gives you access to the skills and strategies required to manage your largest business asset. This event is a must-attend for managers and supply chain professionals interested in optimizing their inventory investment.

The Effective Inventory Management Workshop is not a typical inventory management seminar. It is an intermediate-level group session designed for those who want to take an aggressive, hands-on approach to dealing with their inventory challenges by discussing;

- Seven strategies of effective inventory management and how you can put them in play at your business
- Maximizing your productivity and profitability – a satisfactory return on investment
- Newest concepts, tools and “best practices” of Industrial Distribution
- Recent changes in demand forecasting for Distributors

Take-aways include:

- Make sure you have the right people in the right job
- Accurately measure the productivity and profitability of your investment in inventory
- Cost of bad inventory control
- Measure and improve forecast accuracy

Our Workshop is set at the bargain price of only $395 per attendee. Similar workshops in other areas can cost over $1000 plus travel expenses and use multiple work days.

To help defray our costs and keep the price low, we are seeking sponsorships for the Continental Breakfast, Lunch, afternoon break and AV Package. See attached form to sign up.

“All EIM products, classroom instruction, and consulting services are designed to lead you through the practical implementation of a successful inventory management system. Just as important, you gain the knowledge necessary to enhance and modify your inventory system to meet your organization’s changing needs.”
